Demonic possession on the rise in U.S.

BY PATTI ARMSTRONG

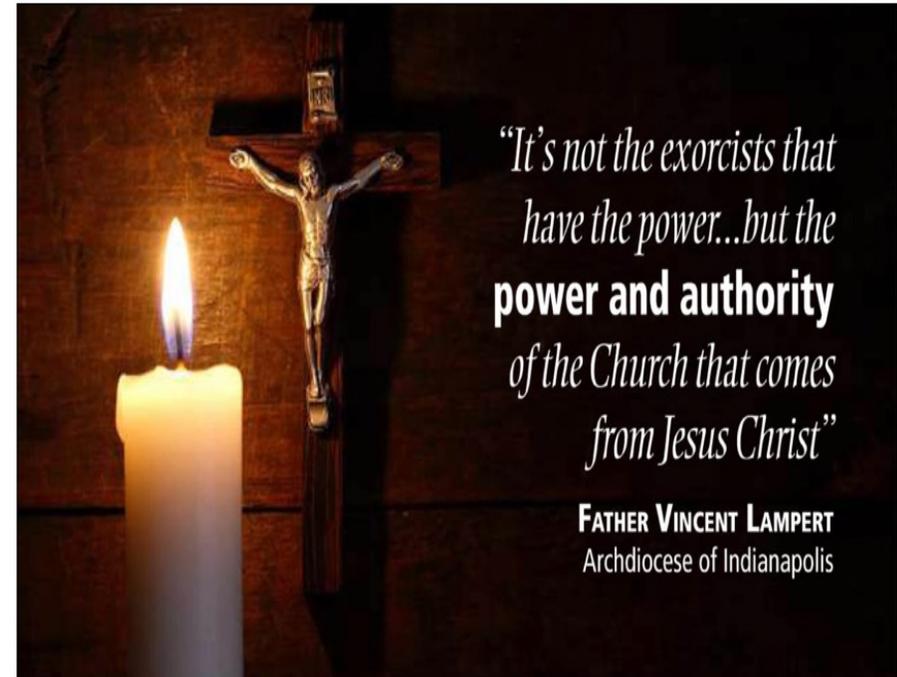

NATIONAL CATHOLIC REGISTER

There is an alarming increase in demonic activity being reported by those who work in exorcism ministry, said the exorcist for the Archdiocese of Indianapolis. Although steps are being taken to increase the number of exorcists, demand is still outpacing supply.

Father Vincent Lampert has been an exorcist for the Archdiocese of Indianapolis since 2005 and is the pastor at St. Malachy's in Indianapolis. He trained at the North American College in Rome and assisted with more than 40 exorcisms with longtime Italian exorcist Father Carmine De Filippi. Although the identities of most exorcists are hidden, Father Lampert often gives talks to warn against evil and turn people toward the power of God.

In an interview with the National Catholic Register, he said that he sees an increasing number of people involved in Satanic rituals and opening themselves up to evil.

"The problem isn't that the devil has upped his game, but more people are willing to play it," Father Lampert said. He pointed to rampant pornography, illegal drugs use and the occult. "Where there is demonic activity, there is always an entry point," he said.

Tongues

What is the purpose of the gift of tongues?

Spiritual Gifts

Tongues

As the Bible is produced in more and more languages the need for this gift is decreasing, however in some remote regions of the world, this gift can still be utilized to bring people to Christ.

Spiritual Gifts

Tongues

This gift could also be manifested in a supernatural ability to learn and understand multiple languages.
